Of course the only possible reason that could be assigned for this is the plethora of entertainments of one kind or another which took place on the same evening. As regards the quality of the performances, this concert was in some respects superior to any one of the series given under Mr Cattaneo's direction this season. The programme consisted chiefly of a judicious selection from some of the best operas, and the vocalists showed themselves quite equal to their work. The concerted numbers were all rather better sung than anything of the same kind we have heard at the previous concerts, -- a result on which Mr Cattaneo and his pupils are to be congratulated-although there was still a good deal to be de- from Luxon to Hongkong. THE San Francisco Bulletin of 19th Nov. says:—The case of Siegfried & Brandenstein vs. Phelps, Collector, was argued in the United States Circuit Court to-day before Judge Sawyer by District Attorney Carey and Colonel John S. Mosby. The question of law involved is the right of a Collector to require importers to produce a consular invoice for free goods. The plaintiffs imported a lot of tea from Japan without any consular invoice, and the Collector refused to deliver it without such an invoice. The plaintiffs-then sued the Collector for a conversion of the goods. Colonel Mosby read the opinion of the Court of Claims in his own suit against the Government, deciding that consular invoices are not required by law for free goods. Decision reserved.

WITH regard to the purchase of the Tram way Company by the New Harbour Dock Company we believe that the Tanjong Pagar Dock Company will be invited to take a half-interest in the tramway adventure. It is a part of the present scheme for the railway across Singapore island that there shall be a connection with the tramway : and while that connection may meanwhile be unimportant yet in the future it may be of great value, as when the Johote Straits are bridged it will be advisable that trucks loaded with produce should be hauled direct from plantation sidings to Singapore wherves. In any case both dock companies are materially interested in the maintenance of the tramways, of which they ought for goods purposes to be able to make a greatly increased use. The passenger sections of the line are of less interest to them .- Straits Times.

SAMSON AND THE PHILISTINES.—We are a remarkable people, (says the Daily News of 14th ult.), and if there could have been a doubt of it it would have been dissipated by the sight at the Aquarium, on Saturday. The building was filled by an audience come to witness, not a contest in skill between rival poets singing for the clive crown, but a contest in muscle between rival athletes. They were Philistines mostly, but Philistines of the fierce and truculent order. Nowhere else in the world could there have been eren auch a sight, so much passionate feeling on and off the stage, so touching a faith that this contest was the supreme business of the metropolitan hour. Samson met Sandow, and Sandow came off the win ner. He only won, however, by not losing, and Samson's reputation has moulted no feather, except in regard to his claims to absolute supremacy in muscle among the children of men. Samson said that no man could follow him in his feats; Sandow followed him in most of them-in all, indeed, in which the judges decided there could be 100f. and boundless applause. The judges disallowed some of the trials to which the strong man with the strong name invited in the Police Court to-day, and committed his opponent. They would not let him break the leather belt across his chest, and they declined some mysterious proof with bottles the nature of which is but imperfeetly disclosed in the letter from Samson which we publish to-day-on the ground that they did not form part of the champion's ordinary repertoire, and might therefore have taken his opponent unawares. For the rest, Samson bent an iron pipe into an arc, and then bent it back again into a straight line; and Sandow, though not with equal facility, did the same. Samson tore a wire rope asunder across his chest, and Sandow tore a wire rope; Samson broke chains over his biceps, Sandow broke chains -but chains of his own. Then Sandow took the lead, lifted a strong man as easily as the strong man might have lifted a baby, and played carelessly with a monster dumbbell. Samson did not fail in these feats: he simply declined to attempt them. Sandow was finally hailed the hero of the evening, as he had been the favourite all

THE LOSS OF THE 'NYLOGHAU.'

MARINE COURT OF INQUIRY. A Marine Court re-assembled at the Harbour Office this morning to resume the inquiry into the circumstances connected with the loss of the British barque Nyl Ghau, of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia. TRANSACTION. The hearing of this case, which arises out ! of a claim for $547 alleged to be due on certain share transactions, was continued to-day. Mr Hastings (of Messra Wotton and Deacon's office) appeared for the plaintiff, and Mr Caldwell for the defendant.

Mr Brandt (cross-examined) admitted having made an offer to Mr Ho Tim on the 11th September to the following off et : 'In consideration of your paying to me in cash within the current week or in case of need by Monday next the sum of $4000.75 which you are due me, and of your giving me a promissory note payable in two years for-$1.0.0 and another promissory note for $1,000 payable in other two years, I am willing to cancel all our transactions in China Sugara up to December, consisting of your sundry purchases from me.
